Adrian, age 14, Amir, age 12, and Andre, age 9

This is a very attractive sibling group. They would like to be together in a two parent [male/female] family that can meet their individual physical, social/emotional and educational needs.

Adrian* is quiet and looks to his younger brother, Amir, for guidance. Amir is somewhat outgoing and can be very charming. Andre is the younger brother who looks up to his older brothers.

Adrian* loves electronic games, while Amir likes watches and video games. Amir loves candy and sweets and his intake has to be monitored. Both boys do well with younger children.

Andre* loves to play and has a fondness for stuffed animals.

All three boys need a structured, nurturing and safe environment. They would thrive in an active family that could expose them to activities and aid in the development of their social skills. They participate in individual therapy to address their past issues of abuse and neglect, and to prepare them for adoption. Adrian and Andre take medication to help them to focus so that they can be successful at school.

This sibling group has been in the custody of the Department of Social Services since August 9, 2006. The parents rights were terminated on March 31, 2009 and they are legally free for adoption.
