

OVERVIEW

A Rural Family Occupation (RFO) is an accessory use that allows the operation of a business on the same property as one's residence. It is permitted in the AG Agricultural District subject to approval of a Special Use Permit by the Guilford County Planning Board. The RFO differs from a Home Occupation because the RFO is conducted in an accessory building, detached from the home and involves a more intensive land use. (For more information on Home Occupations, refer to Planning Bulletin No. P7- "Home Occupation.")

TYPES OF OCCUPATIONS

The RFO was originally designed to allow farm related services and industries in agricultural areas. However, the concept of the RFO has expanded over the years. Traditionally, a RFO could be a welding or small engine repair shop. Under the current usage horticultural specialties, cabinet making, and septic tank repair services are examples of possible RFO's.

RFO's are limited to uses that:

- Assemble or manufacture products on-site for sale elsewhere, or
- Provide a service on- or off-site, with stock-in trade clearly incidental to the service provided.

Retail and wholesale operations which bring products on site for resale are not permitted.

APPROVAL PROCEDURES

In order to legally operate a RFO, the applicant:

1. Should consult the Planning and Development Department to determine if the proposed use qualifies for RFO status and if the location meets the development requirements;
2. Must prepare a Site Plan for the proposed RFO in accordance with the specifications for Minor Site Plan;
3. Must make application for a Special Use Permit. A complete application consists of the completed application form; a $100 filing fee; a complete Site Plan; and a written evaluation from the Guilford County Environmental Health Division; and

4. Must appear and testify at the Planning Board Public Hearing.

The Public Hearing for a Special Use Permit is a quasi-judicial hearing. The applicant, under oath, must provide factual information showing that the proposed use:

1. will not materially endanger the public health or safety if located where proposed and developed according to the plan submitted;
2. meets all required conditions and specifications;
3. will not substantially injure the value of adjoining or abutting property, or that the use is a public necessity; and
4. that the location and character of the use, if developed according to the plan submitted, will be in harmony with the area in which is to be located and in general conformity with the plan of development of the Jurisdiction and its environs.

The Planning Board may approve or deny the Special Use Permit based on these facts.

SPECIFIC REGULATIONS

All RFO's must meet the following standards and any specific standards for an individual use (as defined by Section 6-4 of the Development Ordinance). The RFO Site Plan should illustrate all required and proposed standards and be submitted with the application for the Special Use Permit.
